STEPHEN L RICHARDS
. . . Doctor of Laws

Brigham Young University to Award Honorary Doctorates to Elders Richards & Bennion at Graduation

Presidents Stephen L Richards and Adam S. Bennion will receive honorary doctorates at Commencement exercises this year, it was announced last week by President Ernest L. Wilkinson.

Both men are members of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

President Richards, first counselor in the First Presidency of the Church, will be awarded the doctor of laws degree in recognition of his long and distinguished career in both church and civic fields.

The doctor of letters degree will be conferred on Dr. Adam S. Bennion. Dr. Bennion will also deliver the principal commencement address.

Mr. Richards has been a general officer of the Church for nearly half a century and for 36 years has been a general authority.

A native of Mendon, Utah, he is a son of Dr. Stephen Longstroth and Emma Louise Stayner Richards. He married Irene Merrill Feb. 21, 1900, in the Salt Lake LDS Temple and built a log home for his bride in Malad Valley, where he operated a ranch and was principal of Malad school. From this union nine sons and daughters were born.

Active his entire life in the Church, he became a member of the General Board of the Deseret Sunday School Union in 1906, and in this capacity a strong friendship grew with another Sunday School leader, David O. McKay, now president of the Church. Mr. Richards became second assistant in the superintendency of the Sunday School Union in 1907 when Mr. McKay was first assistant. On Jan. 17, 1917, he was ordained to the Council of Twelve Apostles at 37 years of age, and was appointed to the First Presidency in April 1951.

Dr. Bennion, most recently appointed apostle, was named to the Council in April, 1953. A native of Taylorville, he attended public schools of the county and was graduated from University of Utah in 1908 with the bachelor of arts degree. He obtained the master of arts degree at Columbia University in 1912 and the doctor of philosophy degree from University of Chicago in 1923.

He has served as vice-president of Utah Power and Light Company, and is author of many books.

He married Minerva Young in 1911, and they are parents of five sons and daughters.

Students View '53 'Banner Banyan' As Workers Complete Distribution

Student got their first look at 1953's "Banner Banyan" yesterday as a full crew of Banyan workers began distribution of this year's record of college life.

This year's Banyan features a new calendar type, arrangement for activities, a new class arrangement, several full color spreads and has 72 more pages than any previous yearbook the school has ever put out.

Emphasizing its theme, "You in the Spotlight" from the first few pages, the book looks at faculty, activities, athletics, units, and is liberally sprinkled with campus life pictures.

The division pages are a special duo-tone processed product, and set off the Banyan sections with scenes typical of what follows.

In contrast to recent years, when the activities have been grouped together, this year the Banyan contains a monthly blow by blow account of every important event in the school year. Each month is represented by a key word.

Classes are placed with the yearbook with the freshmen first followed by the other classes in order. Banyan Personalities precede each class section.

All printing was done by the Brigham Young University Press, using the off-set method. The cover, which is washable and scratch proof, was produced by Wheelwright Lithographing, located in Salt Lake City. The Deseret News Press bound the book.

This year's Banyan was edited by Bob Carter, Manti, Ariz., with Mary Anne Carter, Salt Lake City, and Lynn McBride, Blackfoot, Ida., acting as assistants.

Nurse Uniforms Now Chosen For Y Students

by Noreen Hubbard
UNIVERSE Staff Writer

After three quarters the Brigham Young University school of nursing have its uniforms.

The uniform was chosen as a result of an international contest with entries being sent from twenty-five states, Hawaii, and Canada. This contest was held to find a distinctive uniform to characterize the student of the fast-growing new nursing school.

Mrs. Robert Perine, Pasadena, Calif., has been announced as the winner of the contest. She submitted the entry in the name of her sister, Miss Linda Ann Larsen, San Gabriel, Calif., who will receive the prize of a one-year tuition scholarship to Brigham Young University.

The new uniform is a one-piece blue costume, with a gathered yoke, semi-flare skirt and utility pockets. The original design had a round collar with three-quarter length sleeves. The round collar has been changed for a classical one which will be becoming to more of the girls. Short sleeves

UNIVERSITY TUITION UP TEN DOLLARS; TEN DOLLAR PARKING FEE INSTITUTED

A tuition of $160 for all Brigham Young University students and a new $10 parking fee will go into effect next year, according to an announcement made by President Ernest L. Wilkinson at the devotional assembly Wednesday.

President Wilkinson said the board of trustees had approved a $10 registration fee in addition to the regular $50 per quarter tuition bringing the total for the year to $160. Although the announcement come too late to be included in the new catalog, the increase will be effective fall quarter.

This increase is following a trend throughout the nation. However, it is not as great a hike as that of most other schools. The extra fee will be used to help supply the demand for buildings and improvements at the Y.

The new parking fee will only effect students with cars and is due to the major problem of parking and traffic on campus. The new fee increase will cover patroling of parking areas, processing of tickets and maintenance and improvement of parking facilities.

The fee of $150 this year for tuition will not meet the need for the coming year's Y progression plans, according to President Wilkinson. More for the student's money will still be observed at the church university, he said.

Leadership Confab Plans Given; To Be Held Sept. 18-19

The annual fall leadership conference for all student organization heads is tentatively set for September 18 and 19 at the Brighton MIA Home, according to Quinn McKay, studentbody president-elect.

Purpose of this conference is to acquaint the student leaders with one another and with their jobs. There will be addresses by church and school leaders, as well as social activities.

Mr. McKay stated that it is hoped that at least one member of the board of trustees will be able to be in attendance. Members of IOC, Legislative Council, Executive Council, and all other student organizations will attend.

All IOC members who have not left their summer addresses with the Coordinator's office are requested to do so at once, in order that they may receive all information pertinent to the conference during the summer.

Journalism Frat Adds Seven New Members

Seven new members were added to the Harrison R. Merrill chapter of Kappa Tau Alpha, national journalism scholarship society, at the 1953 awards banquet of the Brigham Young University journalism department held Thursday night.

Dr. Oliver Smith, adviser to the chapter, conducted initiation ceremonies. Initiates were Dr. O. Preston Robinson, general manager of the Deseret News and Telegram, Joseph M. Boel, Lynn Dallin and John D. Burnett of the BYU staff, Herbert Newel Morris, Rigby, Ida., C. Robert Holman, Iona, Ida., and M. Dallas Burnett, Bell, Calif.

C. Ralph Jeppson of Brigham City received the Forace Green medal which is presented annually to the outstanding senior student in journalism. David P. Forsyth of Spring Canyon received the $150 scholarship offered to a junior student by The Deseret News and Telegram.

Evan Croft Leaves For National Meet

Evan M. Croft, professor of secretarial training and department chairman, left today to attend the National Council for Business Education in Washington, D. C., Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Professor Croft is a member of the United Business Education Association and president of The Western Business Association.

Functions of the council are: to study and to act upon policies affecting the association which may be prepared by any member; to elect officers of the association; to promote a program for better business education on all levels; local, state, original and national.

At the meet, Professor Croft will give a paper on a phase of business education. He will also attend the Mountain Plains Convention to be held at Estes Park, Colo., June 19-21, where he will act as moderator for one of the panels.

TRIPLE THREAT MAN!

AIRCRAFT OBSERVER

AIRCRAFT OBSERVER

AIRCRAFT OBSERVER

The Brains of the Team

Teamwork can work miracles. In a football game the man who sparks these miracles is the quarterback. He's the man who calls the signals. There's a man who calls the signals for an Air Force flying team, too!

They call him an Aircraft Observer.

Do YOU have what it takes to become an Aircraft Observer?

It isn't easy. It's tough. You have to be a MAN to qualify as an Aircraft Observer. But when you are one, brother, you're SOMEBODY! The success or failure of a mission involving over a million dollars worth of flight equipment depends on you.

THE AIRCRAFT OBSERVER IS THE SOMEBODY WHO:

As Bombardment Officer, is number one man on a bombing run, the man who controls the plane in the target area!

As Navigation Officer, is the pilot's guiding hand on every flight!

As Radar Officer, is master of a new science and operator of the device that sees beyond human sight!

As Aircraft Performance Engineer Officer, is the one who "keeps the plane flying", the man who knows his plane inside and out, who keeps it fit for the skies and sees that it stays there!

If YOU can accept a challenge like this, you'll take your place beside the best—you'll find your future in the clouds!

TO BE QUALIFIED you must be single, a citizen, between 19 and 26½ years old, have had at least 2 years of college and be in tip top physical shape. If this describes you, then YOU, too, can qualify. Today!

HERE'S WHAT YOU'LL GET! The world's best training. Good food and plenty of it. Uniforms, flight clothes, equipment. Medical and dental care. Free insurance. Flight training in Uncle Sam's greatest aircraft.

AND THEN, AFTER GRADUATION, you'll win your silver wings, and earn more than $5000 a year as an Air Force Lieutenant. You'll enjoy an adventurous, exciting career with a hand-picked crew of real men. You'll be THE BRAINS OF THE TEAM, A TRIPLE THREAT MAN . . . as a Bombardment Officer, as a Navigation Officer, as a Radar Officer, as an Aircraft Performance Engineer.

THE SOONER YOU APPLY, THE SOONER YOU FLY!

GET THE DETAILS: Visit your nearest Air Force Base or Air Force Recruiting Officer. Or write to Director of Training, Headquarters, USAF, Washington 25, D.C., Attention: Aviation Cadet Branch. If you are in a school that has an Air Force ROTC program, see your Professor of Air Science and Tactics.

MORE STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Next year's executive council will preside over a student government system which will differ in some very significant respects from anything seen in the past at BYU.

A studentbody cabinet, acting directly unnder the president, and advising him on various aspects of student life is now being formed, and will take office next year. The cabinet members will run their various departments of student activity, under the direction of the executive council.

With a studentbody of 6,000 and prospects of even more in the near future (a possible studentbody of 10,000 is a distinct possibility), it becomes increasingly evident that the executive council cannot run the studentbody alone. The administration has granted an almost unprecedented amount of power to student officials, and if they are to fill their responsibilities properly they must have help and a responsible organization.

The cabinet is the first big step along this line. Outgoing studentbody president LeRoy Porter should be praised for instituting the committee which recommended the cabinet idea, and Quinn McKay's council has done well in accepting the recommendations of the committee.

There is no guarantee that a lot of difficulties won't develop. The cabinet is a new thing on campus, and initial cabinet members will have to be far sighted, hard working individuals in order that they might point out just how valuable this body can be. We would encourage the students to make use of this body when it is instituted. The entire studentbody should benefit from the move.

LEGISLATIVE LEANINGS

by Dick Oveson - UNIVERSE Tuesday Editor

The Legislative Council will take the evening off Monday and head for the MIA home up Provo canyon. The occasion is the annual Leg Council party. The party will finish off the activities of the group for the year.

Although it's pretty general knowledge, we'd just like to mention again the election of Quinn McKay, studentbody president for next year, as president of the studentbody presidents accociation for this area (and west). Quinn and LeRoy Porter recently returned from the annual meeting of the group.

President-elect McKay also reported that LeRoy's influence from last year had a distinct effect on this year's conference—seems that President Porter didn't indulge in the after-hours partying and the example had its effect.

When the president steps down at the end of the year he'll have left an enviable record not only in student government, but in off campus representation of Brigham Young University.

Fred Money is back from the honeymoon, so business as usual in the business office.

LeRoy Cooper, newly-elected president of the junior class, has been busy organizing class government for next year. He's got good ideas and should produce something well worth examination. Class government has long been a weak spot in student administration.

The new executive council has officially accepted the cabinet recommendation presented to them, and they are now filling the appointive jobs. Sure of seats on the president's advisory body are Jim Geddes, AMS president; Beverly Boyack, AWS head, and Russ Mickelson, newly-elected president of IOC. The executive council will add a campus publicity director, a director of off-campus affairs and a pep and halftime activities director. The athletic department will name the intramural director and the administration will choose the head of the Student Program bureau, who will also sit on the cabinet.

For those who haven't heard the gladsome news, Olene Smith, out-going first vice-president, is engaged to Myron Walker, now in the army and last year's business manager. No date has been set for the wedding.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Bibler

"Of course you could argue about this paper and prove me wrong—but why jeopardize yer whole future?"

BY THE READERS

More on Housing . . .

Dear Editor:

First of all, I would like to say Amen to the article in the last UNIVERSE by LeRoy Effler. This problem of student housing is a greater one than the housing department seems to think—and I might add, one they don't seem to know much about.

About five weeks ago I took a survey among the students (I would like to thank all those who took part in it) to find out what kind of conditions they were living in. The results were not all good, I assure you. I was reluctant to make my thoughts about student housing known because here at the BYU no one ever seems to do anything about someone's findings, they just publish a criticism in the UNIVERSE and cast the findings aside. I think student housing should be of interest to every student.

When I came to the Y in September I had an apartment waiting which I had secured during summer school. When I got here I found that it was rented to someone else. Then I started looking for a place to stay. That was when I realized the problem that exists here. Most of the apartments that I looked at were basements. I became convinced that Provo has its slums, only there are nice houses on top of them. I saw one apartment where the kitchen and toilet were not even separated. The man who owned it is a dean of one of our colleges.

Finally, when I couldn't find a suitable place to stay, I settled on what I could get. It was a one-bedroom apartment with an adjoining bathroom. It was a very nice place eight blocks from school. The price, however, was $36 a month, which no college student can afford. I hoped I could get another student to stay which would make the rent $40 a month or $20 for each of us.

Immediately when I took the apartment the owner pulled out the Student Housing Agreement. In desperation I signed it.

About a month later I realized that I couldn't get another student to stay with me to share the expenses. Not being able to pay the rent, I looked for another apartment. I found one two blocks from the school for $15 a month with some of the finest fellows in school. I took it. When I informed my landlord that I was going to move he was furious and ordered me out within 24 hours or he would have me kicked out. He also kept my deposit ($36) which the Housing Agreement requires each student to give the householder.

It pains me to know that many students are getting the same raw deal. Many students who would like to live in a dorm can't do so because they can't afford the high prices they are required to pay on entering. . .

According to the findings of my survey, the conditions some of the students put up with are terrible. The Student Housing Agreement is a way householders can take advantage of the students. As one student put it, "Once you get an apartment you're a dead duck until next summer, especially when your landlady is a good talker." I don't feel the school has any right to enforce an agreement upon students until every student is promised a decent place to live. . . .

I feel, like LeRoy Effler, that we are old enough to make decisions for ourselves, and that it is an insult to our intelligences for the school to try to run our lives by force. Many times in our classes we hear the professors say, "This isn't high-school; you're in college; act like it." If you want us to act like college students—treat us like college students.

I earnestly feel that the only way to handle the housing problem at the BYU is to either limit the number of students who enroll so that they can be taken care of properly or do away with the Housing Agreement until better housing can be provided for them.

That we may all strive for the right and each be his own free agent is my sincere wish.

'Spring-Like Weather Wearies Me'

by Jeri Hebdon

This afternoon things are very dull. Nothing has been happening and I am seriously considering giving myself a hot-foot or two to break the monotony.

I have been puzzled over some ads that catch my eye as I thumbed through a recent edition of "Goo Plus," just put out by the U of U. (I have been trying to keep the fact that I have one secret up till now; your cooperation will be appreciated.)

There is an ad that says by using a new tuna fish flavored tooth paste, you can avoid halitosis and the horrible condition of "pink tooth brush" also. This dentifrice fights hailtosis with halitosis. The pink tooth brush can be eliminated by buying a green brush.

Another ad describes a new spring tonic, blood tonic, summer tonic and bone tonic. (Careful! you might become intoxicated.) Around this school we have a swell spring tonic that is also a cure for spring fever. It's known as "sulphur and no-classes."

There's another ad here that should be run in the UNIVERSE —it's so typical of the Y. "A young gentleman on the point of being married is desirous of meeting a man of experience who will dissuade him from such a step." That boy should spend a day in Mr. Canning's Soc. 13 class.

Getting back to the hot-foot idea . . . as I remember it, the idea is to catch the party unaware. Hmmmmmmm, my left foot is asleep, so this should be a cinch.

Forty Girls Pledge Honorary Unit

Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman girls' honorary scholastic sorority, held formal initiation and pledging for new members last Tuesday afternoon in the Joseph Smith Banquet hall. The group consists of girls who, in their freshman year, maintain a high scholastic average.

Organization sponsor, Mrs. Lillian C. Booth, addressed the girls, welcoming new members and stressing the importance of maintaining scholastic standing.

Officers for the coming year were elected, including: Jeanette Boyack, Salt Lake City, president; Barbara Wing, Alberta, Canada, vice president; Carolyn Callister, Delta, secretary; Karleen Lallius, Buhl, Idaho, treasurer; and Barbara McKay, Salt Lake City, treasurer.

The following were pledged in the initiation ceremonies: Grace Barratt, June Bennet, Ida Bernards, Jeanette Boyack, Evva Jean Burnham, Carolyn Callister, Virginia Cox, Emmalou Crosbaw, Marcia Daniel, Ruth DeVault, Mercedes Dickey, Ina Lou Elison, Monta Ford, Helen Foster, Carole Holling, Jilean Harding, Laura Harrison, Resh Harris, Marilyn Hawkes, Mary Carol Hedquist, Shirlyn Judd.

Marilyn McDowell, Barbara McKay, Leandra McKell, Marilyn Monson, Barbara Carol Neeley, Lorna Nielsen, Suzanne Nielson, Kathallene Palmer, Carolyn Rile, Mary Alice Sauls, Rowena Sherwood, Hacene Smith, Juanita Taft, Carol Watts, Beth Wessel, Barbara Wing, Maurine Hill, and Kareen Lallis.

Another meeting will be held today at 6 p.m. in the banquet hall.

Hearing, Speech Correction Fraternity Is Installed On Campus Wednesday

Hearing and speech correction honorary fraternity, Sigma Alpha Eta, was installed on the campus of Brigham Young University last Wednesday and now has 14 charter members.

The objectives of this fraternity are: (1) to create and stimulate an interest among college students in the field of speech and hearing; (2) to encourage professional growth; (3) to foster a spirit of unity; (4) to inspire high planes of achievement in academic and clinical activities; (5) to aid in building wholesome public relations with other college departments.

Key membership to the fraternity is open to majors in speech and hearing. Associate membership is open to anyone interested in speech and hearing.

Newly elected officers are Ned Miller, Bingham Canyon, president; Varlene Kofoed, Preston, Ida., vice president; Barbara Coates, South Gate, Calif., secretary; and Hugh Rush, Ft. Smith, Ark., treasurer. Dr. Alonzo J. Morley and Prof. J. Lorin Jex will sponsor the chapter.

Meetings will be held every Wednesday at 5:30 p.m. in room 2SC.

Dr. Boyd B. Sheets, director of the speech and hearing clinic at the University of Utah was on campus to install the new members.

Rainbow Gardens Is Renovated by Bricker Workers

Rainbow Gardens, outdoor dance hall located west of campus hill, is now open for regular student functions, according to Leland Perry, buildings and grounds director.

As a result of the hard work in renovation of the facilities by the Bricker social unit during the past few weeks, all units and organizations now have access to the stir, Mr. Perry said.

The Brickers provided 50 fellows who cleaned and scraped the old paint of the walls and benches. They were then repainted light blue and the stage was sprayed with silver. The university furnished all the equipment and paint.

Rainbow Garden's dance hall was purchased by the university last summer. The front building is still under an old lease which will not be up until July 1, Mr. Perry said. The university will then have complete charge of all facilities.

Rose Marie Reid To Be Forum Speaker

Of special interest to the coeds of the studentbody will be Monday's forum speaker, Rose Marie Reid, originator of sculptured swimsuits, will appear before the studentbody in answer to a request by Harold Glen Clark, chairman of the assemblies committee.

An accomplished swimmer in Canada, Miss Reid found that the problems of sagging jersey suits could be solved by making suits of gabardine and rigid materials, and lacing them for adjustable fit. Other women saw the advantages of such construction and wanted to buy them. In this manner Miss Reid was launched on a successful career in designing. Since that time she has improved on her designs until her work has been evidenced throughout the world.

Her American presentation was a non-tarnishable gold lame swimsuit.

Considerable Danger . . .

Scribe Studies Musicians And Music at University

by R. Neal Richards — UNIVERSE Feature Writer

Some days ago, President Wilkinson remarked in assembly as to the large number of musicians and the amount of musical talent at BYU. He failed to take into consideration the potential and frustrated music-makers, which includes practically the rests of the studentbody.

Since that time, at no expense, but considerable personal danger, we have made an extensive study of the musically inclined and are revolted to report these foul findings:

First of all we have the frustrated tympani player. This would-be virtuoso sublimates his desire by working on the garbage detail—his talents are audible the length and breadth of the upper campus each morning. How one can extract such wracking reverberations from a lowly garbage can has yet to be discovered.

Then there is the human piccolo or flute player. This person really needs no instrument. This type is almost exclusively confined to the feminine gender, but one occasionally encounters a male. There high-pitched, trilling giggles put flutists to shame, and are the despair of physiognomists.

Then the potential French horn player. The French horn is an odd, weird-sounding instrument. The same may be said of this character.

We have, too, the percussionist. This guy really drums things up. If he's not slapping your back in three-to-the-bar, he's beating his cops in cut-time.

Nor may we overlook the violinists. These have a continual tale of woe. If they could play the violin, their piece-de-resistance would indubitably be "Hearts and Flowers."

There are so many of the "horn" and "wind" players, they hardly need mentioning. Everyone is acquainted with those who are long-winded and who blow their own horn at the drop of a hat. Sometimes you don't even need to drop a hat. These people will launch on an improvisation of their latest trip to Bryce Canyon, Provo Canyon, or Steve Canyon on the slightest provocation—with variations, yet.

We must not overlook the prospective oboe player. Anyone who has ever heard an oboe will recognize this type by the whining,

Naturally there are soloists in each of these groups, who "play the thing as they read it" irregardless—and that means without regards.

Let's not overlook the leader, or drum majorette type. This person has a leaderpus complex. They're so stuffy that taxidermists look at them with mixed feelings of envy and admiration.

Honest-to-erney, one can find without too much perusal, almost any type of musician in those about him—including the tambourine and triangle player who fills in those pithy silences at auspicious moments. In fact, everyone could fill in at some position—even if it were only to play wood-blocks or rhythm-sticks.

Me? I could play the therman.

Jobs Available During Summer

Opportunities exist in Provo for summer employment, according to B. Keith Duffin, placement bureau head. He added, however, that "every source nasal quality typical of this specimen.

should be explored leading to jobs."

Some full and part-time work will be available on campus during the summer, although the exact number has not been determined.

Off-campus work possibilities are greatest in the seasonable fields, according to the Provo employment office. Farm openings will probably be the most numerous. Openings for students in many fields may be listed through both the Provo and BYU employment offices. Students should not rely entirely on the agencies, however.

Requests have been received in the placement bureau office at BYU from the southern Utah parks, park and forest rangers, scouting groups, U.S. Bureau of Land Management, publishers and from other business firms.

Job openings throughout the state have been less this year

MIXED CHORUS FEATURES LDS WRITERS

Nine Latter-day Saint composers were featured Sunday at a special concert by the Mixed chorus, under direction of Crawford Gates, member of the BYU music faculty.

Dr. Gerrit deJong, sean of the college of fine arts, was represented with his work "Blessed by the Lord," with Ray Leonard, baritone, and J. J. Keeler, university organist, presented his "A Voice Hath Spoken from the Dust."

Other featured composers and their works were Crawford Gates' Hora Breve with Marva Dance, soprano, and the BYU string orchestra. Text of the work is by Jon Beck Shank, noted BYU poet. Dr. Leon Dallin's composition, Every Knee Shall Bend, was also performed.

Other works included Tabernacle organist Alexander Schreiner's The Pioneers; Leroy Robertson's Chorale; B. Cecil Gates' The Lord's Prayer, Tracy Y. Cannon's O My Father, and Evan Stephen's Let the Mountains Shout for Joy, with quartet: Annette Black, soprano; Jean Hopi, alto; Orval Skousen, tenor; and Alan Holyoak, bass.

Additional feature of the concert was the famous Bach Cantata No. 140 "Wake Ye Up," with Homer Wakefield, harpsichord; J. J. Keeler, Organ; David Dalton, violin; Ila Mae Cook, oboe; and Verda Stubbs, 'Cello.

Provo Expedition Achieves Goal On Indian Trip

Striking a badly needed and favorable note in Indian-white relations was the recent achievement of an adventuresome Provo expedition consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Dean A. Anderson, and Herbert C. Vance, with their respective families.

The achievement was the pack-train transporting of the "fruits of Hollywood" to a small, isolated Indian tribe at the bottom of Grand Canyon.

There, in the secluded locale, several movies were shown to a fascinated group of squaws and braves, using electricity generated by a gasoline engine. On the screen, Havasupi tribe members saw (many for the first time) films rented from the BYU film library, which depicted the cultures and customs of other Indian tribes.

The Havasupi tribe is the smallest tribe in North America, having only 200 members. The name, Havasupi, means "blue green waters," a phrase which fittingly describes colorful waterfalls near their habitations.

Apparently, this small tribe has lived in its primeval location for 700 years—since they were forced there by vengeful Apaches on the warpath. Today, however, these Indians are proteges of the government, speak some English, and wear white man's clothing.

than for several years, according to many observers. Most persons add that if a person wants work and will look for it chances are good that he will be placed.

MILITARY DETACHMENT PASSES 1953 REVIEW 'SATISFACTORILY'

Brigham Young University's ROTC detachment passed in review last Thursday, and received a "satisfactory" rating from the visiting inspectors.

It was pointed out by Lt. Col. LeRoy Wilcox, commandant of cadets, that only two ratings are given by the reviewing board, "satisfactory" and "unsatisfactory." However, the board rated the detachment excellent and superior on a number of items. Brigham Young is only the second institution the officers have visited which has received a "superior" rating in espirit-de-corps and military discipline.

The drill team was very highly complimented by the reviewing officers. They excelled in snap and precision, and were rated among the tops in the area visited by the reviewing officers.

The detachment was reviewed by Col. Altberg, Lt. Col. Cox and Maj. Clark, all under the head of the AFROTC training program headquarters. The review included an exhibition by the band, the drill team and several decorations and letters of commendation given to outstanding cadets and sponsors.

The entire detachment passed in review before the officers of the BYU detachment and the reviewingn board.

Gain National Points...

BYU Rodeo Team Rides High To Take Aggie Rodeo Meet

Brigham Young University's high-flying rodeo team, just returned from the national finals in Texas, won the Utah Aggie meet hands down last weekend in Logan.

Dick Smith, BYU Rodeo Club president, emerged as All-Round Cowboy.

Colorado A&M, ranked as second-best rodeo team in the nation, finished second behind the Cougars. Wyoming University and Utah State finished third amnd fourth.

This is BYU's first year of rodeo competition.

Dick Smith took firsts in bareback bronc riding and calf roping. He also took a fourth in the bulldogging.

Don Jones of the BYU Rodeo Club tied for first in the bulldogging. LouDell Nielson of BYU took a first in Brahma bull riding, and Grant Speed took second in that event.

All points gained in the meet count toward next year's totals for the national finals. This year BYU was ranked twelfth in total points among more than fifty colleges having rodeo teams.

WINS ARCHERY MEET—Dwight Clark practices before Intramural Archery Tournament last Wednesday. Clark won the meet, narrowly nosing out opponent, Kirk Curtis.

BYU Netters Tie for 2nd With Denver

In the Skyline Conference tennis meet last Saturday at the Salt Lake Tennis Club, Utah emerged as conference champions over Denver U. and BYU, who were tied for second place.

Members of BYU's squad reached the semi-finals, but then they received a stroke of bad luck and didn't gain the finals.

In the semi-finals of the singles matches, Jerry Glade of Utah defeated Clayton Benham of Denver, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3, and Jim Hurd of Wyoming won over BYU ace, Bob Kirkpatrick, 6-4, 3-6, 9-7.

In the doubles semi-finals, Benham and Alvie Willis of Denver, conquered Ed Pinegar and Dean Larsen of the Cougars, 6-4, 7-5, and Glade and Don Tisdale of Utah, took a lop-sided victory over Harold Christensen and Bob Kirkpatrick of BYU, 6-1, 6-0.

To this point it was a hard-fought race and no one gained a simple, walkaway victory, due mainly to the strength of all men entered and even matching.

In the finals of the singles, Glade took Jim Hurd, 7-5, 6-3. Hurd was defending champion and he didn't give up without a fight.

Glade and Tisdale of Utah fought hard in the doubles finals against Benham and Willis of Denver, but were nosed out, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1. Glade was playing his fifth set of the day.

Other teams entered in the meet were: Wyoming, with four finishing points; Colorado A&M, with one point; Montana, one; New Mexico, one; and Utah State, none. Utah, in winning, gained nine points, and BYU and Denver each had seven.

Dwight Clark Wins IM Archery Meet

First intramural archery tournament at Brigham Young University ended last week when Dwight Clark won the men's division with 458 points and Jonita Bernards took the women's division with 441 points.

In line with a stepped up intramural program under the direction of intramural director Dave Geddes, this was the first year an archery tournament was held at BYU.

The tournament included target shooting and field shooting animal silhouettes at various distances.

Points for men stacked up as follows: Dwight Clark, 458; Kirk Curtis, 456; LaMar Holt, 424; Jack Nelson, 423; and James Johnson, 422.

Only One Record Falls During Cold Track Fest

For the second year in a row, Colorado A&M ran away with the Skyline Conference track and field meet last Saturday, scoring 62 points.

Coming up from a favored fourth to place second with 47½ points was the University of Utah. Being edged in the last two events by Utah, Montana University fell into third place with 42 points. Brigham Young Universitywas fourth with 34 2/3; Wyoming, 20½; Utah State Agricultural College, 15; New Mexico, 2½, and Denver University, 1 point.

Dick Millett, Cougar hurdle ace, won the 120 yard high hurdles event, but was nosed out by inches as the University of Utah ace Bob Yates, broke the 220 yard low hurdles record. The new record of :23, set by Yates, broke the previoous record of 23.2, which was set by Mac Speedie of Utah in 1940.

Ties Own Record

Sprinting to a great race in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes was Colorado's Alex Burl. Tying his own conference record of last year of a :9.5 100 yard dash, he also won the 200 yard dash in :21.3.

The other double winner of the meet was Utah's Gerald Tovey, who won the 440 yard run in :49.1 and as anchor man on the mile relay team, broke the tape for Utah.

Wayne Lundell, BYU's distance ace, gave the Y nine points by winning the two mile run and finishing second in the mile run.

With a team score of 673, the Cougars placed behind Denver University, who won the affair and Montana University and University of Utah who tied for second.

Intramural Teams Meet Today In Track Events

Final intramural sports event scheduled for the school year at BYU is that of track.

Today at 3 p.m. nine social and geographical units composed of over 100 athletes will don their togs and take to the cinderpaths to vie for group points, a handsome trophy, (to be presented to the winning group), and medals which will be awarded to the first place individual winners in each event.

All track and field events will be held execpt the mile run and the javelin throw.

According to Dave Geddes, intramural director, competition will be keen as this is the last event of the year and the various units will be going all out to cop the intramural championship trophy which is to be presented this week tothe group which compiled the greatest number of points during the entire year.

The meet will be held at the Y stadium.

Mat Dance Today

The last mat dancee of the season will be held today at 5 p.m. in the Social Hall. Admission is free, for the first time this year, and all students are encouraged to attend.

Lost & Found Department Moves to New Location

New lost and found department for a constantly-increasing collection of student possessions is being completed, and will be located in the south end of the Y Press building.

According to Dr. Wesley P. Lloyd, dean of students, the new office will relieve over-congestion in the Information office, located in the Smith building lobby. Security officer Leonard E. Christensen will direct the new department, and the security office, which will also function as a part of lost and found will be located in the new quarters.

Actual opening date of the office has not been disclosed, but probably will not come before the end of spring quarter. Plans for the office have been underway most of the year, it was revealed. Reasons for the delay were not given. Until the lost and found department actually makes its change over to the press section, however, students may call for misplaced articles in the Smith building office.

Uniforms

with a cuff are to be substituted for the longer ones to make the uniform easier for the girls to work in.

This chic outfit will be worn by the student nurses starting their sophomore year, when they begin work in clinical areas of nursing.

Hundreds of Entries

According to Miss Hansen, director of the nursing department at BYU, hundreds of entries were received and contestants used various devices to attract attention. Some entries were in black and white, others in color and some cardboard models wore miniature dresses. Most of the designs were described in great detail and some entrants submitted samples of material and patterns with the sketches.

Extremely Close

Miss Hansen stated the judging was extremely close so the final decision had to be made by a poll of student nurses themselves. Judges were Miss Hansen; Mrs. Belle Spafford, president of the LDS Relief Society; Miss Virginia Zeese, special events manager and director of fashion shows at ZCMI; Miss Eleanor Sheldon, director of nursing at LDS Hospital in Salt Lake City and Miss Sandra Wilcock, BYU student nurse representing her classmates.

Second place winner is Miss Sherry K. Roth, Redwood City, Calif. Honorable mention went to Doris Hawker, Provo, for original design and effort; Deane C. Sorber, Los Angeles, for commendable presentation an professional rendering; Barbara Johnson, Santaquin, handling of water color medium; Ilene Lewis, Kamas, good study of detail; and Barbara Baker, Provo, evidence of natural ability.

Bloodmobile Sets Fourth Y, Date, Thursday & Friday

Give your blood to save a life!

The Red Cross bloodmobile unit will be on campus Thursday and Friday. All students who have signed to donate blood are requested not to eat fatty foods for four hours prior to their donation.

The unit will collect blood from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Sigma Xi Features Speaker on Plaque

At the recent Sigma Xi national science fraternity annual spring banquet at BYU, Dr. D Elden Beck was featured as speaker.

Dr. Beck spoke on "Plague, Plague Distribution and Plague Vectors in Utah."

Dr. Bertrand F. Harrison, president, said the society draws its membership from all fields of science.

Dr. Beck has been carrying on this research supported in part by a research grant from the National Department of Public Health. He discussed the occurrence of plague in various small rodents and various vectors such as fleas that serve to transmit the disease from animal to animal or animal to human being.

New officers for the coming year were elected ass follows: Raymond Farnsworth, president; Alonzo J. Morley, vice-president; Albert D. Swenson, secretary-trasurer. Officers for the past year are Dr. Harrison, president; Farnsworth, vice-president; Dr. Swenson, secretary-treasurer.

Varsity Band Gives Last Concert Of College Year

The varsity band will present their last concert of the school year tomorrow night, 8:15 p.m. in the Joseph Smith auditorium, according to Richard E. Ballou, conductor.

Don Grimes, music major, will be guest conductor. "Gods Go Begging," by Handel will be the guest conducted number. All students and the public are invited to the free concert.

The varsity band serves as the campus concert organization and plays at student assemblies, basketball games and various student functions.

Tragic Opera Chosen for Y

Pietro Mascagni's tragic opera, "Cavalleria Rusticana," has been chosen as the summer presentation of the Opera Workshop, according to Dr. Don L. Earl, opera director.

Dixie Anne Mecham Whitaker will sing the soprano lead, but other solo parts are still open. There is also a large chorus. Production help will also be needed for staging, costumes, props, and other departments. Anyone interested in any phase of work in the production should contact Dr. Earl at once in room 180 C or by calling 2460, extension 350.

The opera will be presented in July during the first term of summer school.

BYU Women Take Honors in Archery At Meet Held Here
